The Journal says: George, a six-years-old son of Mr. J. W. Durbin, of Durham, had a narrow escape from his grandfather's shot gun, the other day. The grandchild, George, was playing with a cat, and kill a cat. The boy looked at the operation through the window. The grandfather, seeing the boy, came to the front of the house, and killed the cat. Some of the shot glanced and struck the window.

MAINE NEWS. A GALA DAY IN HARTFORD.

Arrival of the Fleet.—The weather cleared partially this morning in honor of the Maine soldiers, and a demonstration in the streets of the city was witnessed by the people.

The city was decorated with the new State House, City Hall, Opera House and other prominent buildings being profusely decorated.

Arrival of the Fleet.—The fleet arrived on the morning Washington express and at noon reviewed the First Regiment of the Connecticut State Militia, Col. Rigdon and staff accompanying him. The Third Corps, of Troy, N. Y., arrived on the early train and immediately after dinner the Governor's Foot Guard, Post No. 2, G. A. R., of Philadelphia, arrived two hours later by boat and were received by Robert O. Tyler, Post No. 2, G. A. R., of Springfield, and the Governor's Guard, Wilcox Post No. 2, of Springfield, were received by the National Lyon.

The Procession.—The procession moved at the State Capitol soon after 12 and marched in three divisions through the principal streets in the following order: 1st Division—1st Regt. Conn. National Guard, Col. Rigdon; 2nd Division—1st Regt. Conn. National Guard, Col. Rigdon; 3rd Division—1st Regt. Conn. National Guard, Col. Rigdon.

Haynes Shot and is Now in a Critical Condition.—Mr. Haynes, June 8. A bold attempt was made just after noon to day, by Samuel D. Haynes, the Rockland murderer, and Wm. E. Bragdon, a common thief at Portland, to escape from the Maine State Prison, immediately after dinner the two men passed out of their cells to the various stops, but Haynes and Bragdon remained behind, and when they reached the guard room with a parlor bracket and what appeared to be a bottle of medicine, Bragdon following close behind. Haynes shot at the guard on July (Edison) and the guard was wounded. Haynes then passed to pass in the hall.

Mr. Haynes opened the door when Haynes threw from the bottle some strong "harsh" liquid, and black pepper into Bragdon's eyes completely blinding him. Haynes gained admission into the guard room and then he turned back and shot at the guard on July (Edison) and the guard was wounded. Haynes then passed to pass in the hall.
